

2010 PCA Presidential Print Offer

A special opportunity to purchase Pandanus a new aquatint by renowned artist and printmaker Tate Adams and raise funds for the Print Council's programs

Tate Adams AM holds a unique place in Australian printmaking. From the 1950s he played a crucial role in establishing a culture of printmaking in Melbourne and, later, Queensland in his roles as printmaker, teacher and gallerist (1966-1980). Specialising in wood engraving and linocut techniques, Adams published more than 30 limited edition books through his Lyre Bird Press. Although he no longer prints, at the age of 88 Adams remains focussed on making art. Since 2003 his large-scale gouache paintings have been shown regularly in major solo exhibitions at Perc Tucker Regional Gallery in his Australian home town of Townsville (Qld).

Tate Adams's services to Australia were formally recognised at the highest level when he was made a Member (AM) of the Order of Australia in the Queen's 2009 Birthday Honours.

Now he has generously created a new editioned print to raise funds for the Print Council of Australia. You can read how Pandanus relates to Adams's larger body of work in Frances Thomson's essay in this issue of IMPRINT.

The PCA gratefully acknowledges the support of Tate Adams.
